CLIMATE CHANGE CHALLENGES: WORKSHOP PRAGUE-CONSTANCE (KONSTANZ) STUDY DAYS ON VARIOUS ASPECTS OF SOCIETY, POLITICS, AND POLICY IN THE DIGITAL AGE

The climate change represents essential challenges for our society, politics, and policy. The project-oriented workshop is designed to get students acquainted with climate change challenges from perspectives of society (e.g., new social movements, online collective action), politics (e.g., climate change issue in parliamentary elections), and policy (e.g., measures by the European Green Deal) reflected by the Internet and new social media. It provides an excellent opportunity to gain an international academic experience.

The workshop aims at developing international academic cooperation between national communities and at enhancing students' team work and international communication skills in academic area. It is also appreciated as an excellent preparatory experience for your own study abroad (e.g., Erasmus+ etc.).

The workshop takes place in Konstanz and Prague and it is accompanied by the cultural program related to the hosting places and organized by the hosting institutions (Uni Konstanz, UK FSV).
